25X1Base for Northern Fleet in Polyarnoye.Legend.

- A Anti-submarine nets in the northern entrance.
- B Observation and signal station (Snis).
- C Control Point for the southern entrance.
- D Boom defense in the southern entrance. The middle section of the boom defense is usually open.
- E Underground installations.
- F Polyarny Island.
- G Anchorages.
- H Bay of Kola.

The anchorages along the entire strait are deep enough for any ships.

The water depth is only about 4 meters at the western end of the landing place, but dredging operations are to be performed there.

The southern entrance is used only by small vessels; destroyers and larger ships use only the northern entrance, either because of the shoal depth or the narrowness of the southern entrance.
